The LONDON CORRESPONDING SOCIETY
Addresses the FRIENDS OF PEACE and PARLIAM-ENTARY REFORM.

IT is now nearly two years since this Society has been constantly engaged in a very heavy expence, by its Meetings and Publications for the diffusion of Political and Constitutional Knowledge; during which time it has not solicited any assistance from the Public.—But as the benefit we seek is not for ourselves alone, but equally for the People at large, and as particular circumstances have produced a considerable temporary addition to our expenditure, it will not be thought unreasonable by the FRIENDS OF LIBERTY that we appeal in this public manner to their liberality, since they will not conclude that those who SUPPORT THE WHOLE FATIGUE should endure also the WHOLE EXPENCE of the public service. We take this opportunity, therefore, of informing such persons as are desirous of promoting our endeavours for procuring a speedy and radical Reform in the Parliamentary Representation, and thereby INCREASING THE HAPPINESS and DIMINISHING THE BURTHENS of the People, that Subscriptions are received at the following places, where also lies for signature
